

In this graph we learned that in the Northeast college grad and adv degree are very high compared to the other states. We can see that associate degree are significantly low for all region compare to some college and college graduate

Here we see the relationship between marital status and education. We see the biggest proportion of married people have an advance degree. The biggest proportion for separated are does with only some high school.

This graph shows some interested information. We're able to see that those with advance and college graduatessaid no to work loss. While does with just some college and just high school said yes to to loss of work.